

Term Life Insurance & New Home Owners

Whoa, a mortgage – congrats! That’s a big grown-up box you just checked off. You probably picked your house for a variety of reasons. Maybe you liked the neighborhood or school district. Or maybe that tree in the yard looked like the perfect spot for a tire swing. Either way, your dreams for your new home stretch way into the future, so it might be a good idea to think about ways to help protect those dreams, like term life insurance.

30-year terms available (sound familiar?)

Most homeowners have a 30-year mortgage. Most homeowners are also not millionaires. If that sounds like you, applying for a term life insurance policy might be a smart move. With Bestow, you can apply for up to $1.5 million in coverage to last the duration of your mortgage (between 10 and 30 years). If you were to pass away, your family would be responsible for paying the mortgage. A term life insurance policy could be an affordable way to help your family stay afloat, and continue building memories in the house you all worked so hard for. Talk about peace of mind.
